

BICCOM[®] 2000

The solution for acute and chronic conditions

Why BICCOM 2000?

Recent years have seen an increase in the number of patients suffering from weak or completely blocked response to therapy. These are often patients whose energy levels have been so depleted that they are no longer able to react properly, if at all, to the stimulus provided by naturopathic therapy.

In addition, there have been an increasing number of patients suffering from chronic pain who are looking for a form of therapy free from side effects which will immediately and noticeably ease their symptoms. Chronic fatigue is another clinical picture which is becoming more and more widespread.

These and further indications provided the impetus to develop the BICCOM 2000.

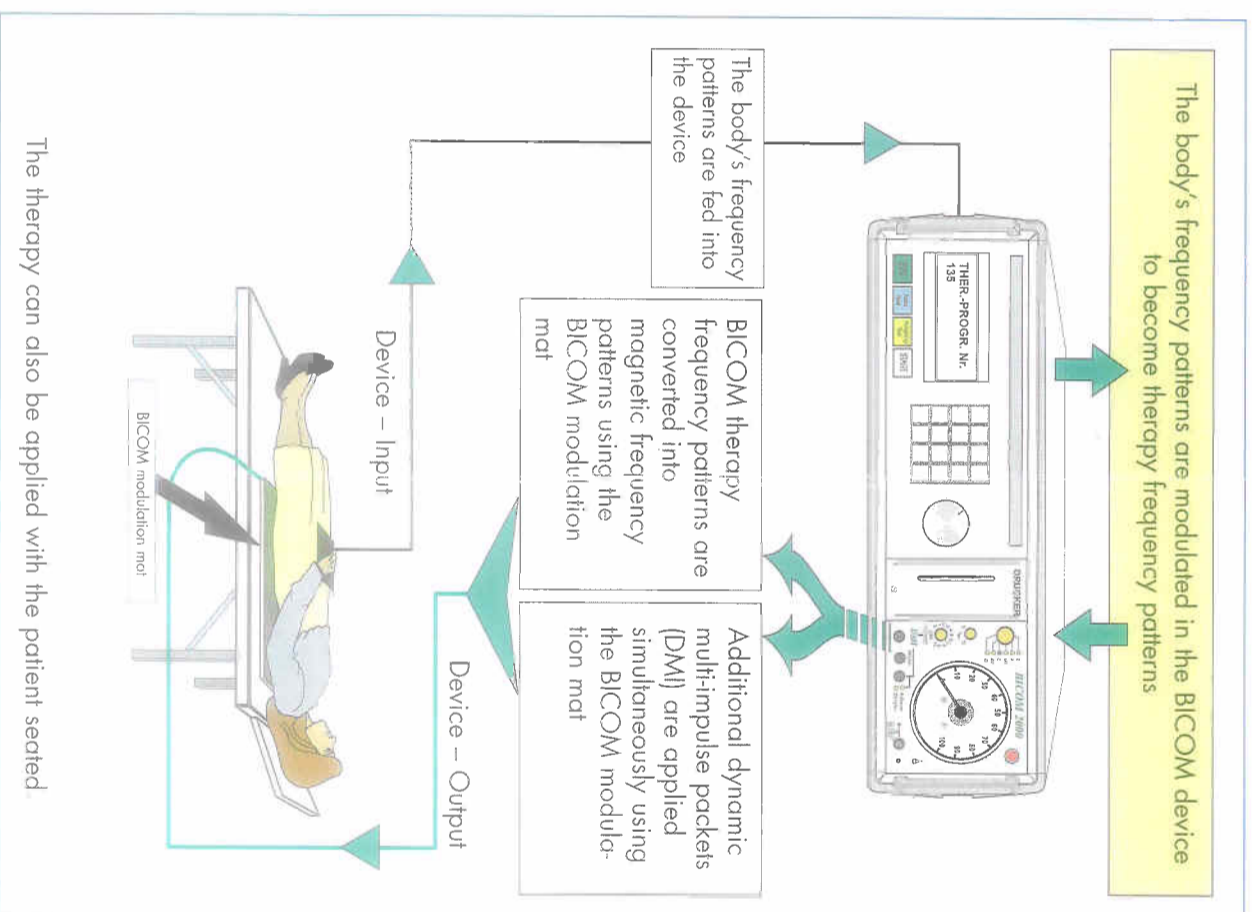

Your Hans Brügemann

What's New?

The BICCOM 2000 is fitted with a special piece of electronic equipment which transforms the frequency patterns from the therapy section into BICCOM magnetic frequency patterns (BMF) with the aid of a modulation mat and then applies them to the patient. The therapy frequency patterns are thus magnetically radiated through each cell, each organ, each bone producing an extraordinarily intensive deep action.

Using the modulation mat, unique dynamic multi-impulse packets (DMI), including a finely tuned gemstone therapy are also applied. Depending on the BICCOM 2000 settings used, these impulse packets have either an attenuating or amplifying effect.

With the new modulation mat the electrode placement has become much easier. You will be enthusiastic about the therapy results!

BICCOM[®] 2000

The Number 1 in Bioresonance

What have patients said about the BICCOM 2000?

It is one year now that the BICCOM 2000 is being used in many practices. Some frequently heard comments from patients during or after therapy:

"I have far less pain now"

"The itching eased during the therapy"

"I feel a pleasant, warm sensation"

"I feel better than I have done in a long while"

What the therapists say:

"I found it especially fascinating that many patients with chronic disorders whom I had often been treating for years and whose condition had only marginally improved in that time, suddenly displayed a significant improvement in their symptoms after just one session of treatment with the new BICCOM 2000."

"I was also amazed that many of my patients who had previously been treated with the earlier model of the BICCOM device felt that even during therapy they were reacting differently and mentioned this to me during treatment."

"Even in the case of acute, chronic clinical pictures patients successfully managed to regulate their system more quickly and in a more stable manner using the BICCOM 2000."

"In particular, patients who were exhausted and drained before therapy felt much more energetic immediately after therapy."

